Brisbane Cabbies in the "know" about Ekka 2006

Your friendly, chatty cabbie now has "inside knowledge" about the 2006 Royal Queensland Show following a special "Cabbies" Breakfast at the RNA Showgrounds today.

Arguably the best people in town to quiz about what to do and see in our great city and how to get there, Brisbane Taxi drivers now know what's FRESH at Ekka 2006.

RNA Chief Executive Jonathan Tunny said cabbies are a great source of information not only for visitors to Brisbane but also for locals who like a convenient, and quick service for travelling around Brisbane.

"We encourage Ekka visitors to consider their transport options when travelling to the Show. Public transport is by far the most convenient way of getting to Ekka."

There are plenty of ways to travel to this year's Ekka.

Taxi

The Ekka is only a short cab ride (about $8.00) from the city. Leave your car in the city and catch a cab directly to the Showgrounds.
