Foodies Delight in Ekka '09

If dagwood dogs, fairy floss and hot chips aren't your thing don't despair, Ekka 2009 will be bursting with plenty of amazing food options sure to please even the most fussy foodie!

Every year Ekka showcases the state's top produce from pumpkins and cheese to wine and beef, and 2009 is set to be no exception with new dining venues, fine food showbags and cooking demonstrations across the Showgrounds.

Event he ost discerning foodie

For the first time Ekka goers will have a chance to sample some of the Show's winning produce through the Royal Queensland Deli Bag. This showbag will be made up of sample products from many competition categories be it cheese, jams, meat or baking. You can opt for a dine-in Showbag to be enjoyed while taking in the sights of the Showgrounds or a takeaway bag with plenty of great foods to add to your kitchen pantry or fridge.

Award-winning foods ranging from but not limited to cheeses, cakes, fruit and wines are available for your taste buds to explore.

The Taste of Queensland Kitchen in the Woolworths Fresh Food Pavilion presents a great opportunity to learn new cooking techniques, find fantastic recipes and be inspired to cook with the freshest produce Queensland has to offer.

In 2009, the Ekka also welcomes celebrity chefs, such as Andrew Mirosh of Sirromet Restaurant, to wow this years visitors with their delicious creations made with fresh produce native to specific regions throughout the state.

Ekka attendees are also encouraged to take some produce home to share with their family and friends by purchasing the Royal Queensland Deli Bag, which is packed with some of the best produce the Royal Queensland Food and Wine Show has to offer.

Also the Dairy Farmers Showbag is on offer with all your favourite Dairy Farmers products including Thick and Creamy, cheese, milk as well as a great cooler to keep the contents cool for the duration of your Ekka visit.

The Ekka is famous for its mouth-watering kitchen creations and free tastings, so be sure to visit and experience the very best the state has to offer.
